

Copyright Protection Clause

This clause can be added to any written contract to protect the creator's ownership of his/her original idea, object, work, or service when it is used by a second party:

"All work is owned solely by ARTIST and all rights not specifically assigned in writing are reserved, including broadcast and electronic rights. Third party usage will not be allowed."